Regular meeting of the council was held on Monday evening. Present Mayor Antrobus, Councillors Aboussafy, Cox, Dutil, Ford and Ramsay.

Mr. Horatio was present to inform the council that the two young Andreas girls were anxious to reside in the future with him and his wife, their father having died a few weeks ago. Following Mr. Horatio's departure, council, after considerable discussion, decided to seek the aid of the provincial Child Welfare Department and a letter will be sent giving a detailed account of the case.

Mr. Andrechuk was present to appeal to the council against a $10 levy which has been placed against him by police owing to damage done to the town's stop sign next to The Motordrome by his truck. Council will question Town Foreman Malanchuk as to actual cost of replacing post which necessitated breaking up of the concrete base.

Mrs. William Aberhart acknowledged receipt of council's letter of sympathy and it is published elsewhere in this issue.

The provincial government is trying to pin responsibility on the town of an Old Age pension due Mrs. Friesak who resided with relatives in West Coleman for a period of the year and on a Tod Creek ranch the balance of the year. The matter will be placed in the hands of town solicitor Bannan.

Coleman Sports Association asked council for a one year's lease of the arena. Request was granted. Parties now wishing to rent the arena must apply to the Sports Association executive.

A very nice letter was received from Charles Sartoris, of Blairmore, in reply to council's request that he warn his truck drivers to tone down their speed through town. Accompanying the letter was a circular letter which Mr. Sartoris had sent all his truck drivers. Council authorized that similar warning be given Mr. Drain, of Blairmore, to warn his drivers to use more caution when driving through town.

Dr. Liesemer, M.H.O., gave his monthly report. There was a general clean-up in progress throughout town, the two cafes given poor sanitary reports had now rectified conditions.

Council are at present negotiating with John Salvador for the purchase of his sand dump at Carbondale.

The secretary reported that Tony Lycka is now paying the town $25 per month.

The advertisement of H. Boutillier asking the provincial government for a lease on a certain piece of road allowance was discussed. Constable Antle was asked to investigate and report to the Mayor.

Councillor Ford reported to council the action taken by the miners' union regarding the Greek Relief campaign. The union was soliciting its members for donations this week and was absorbing the cost of wages to the canvassers as well as a small item of advertising. The council commended the union for its enthusiastic support and a letter will be sent from the council thanking the union for its much appreciated co-operation.

Councillor Aboussafy read the 1943 estimates. The town will budget for $17,000 and it was thought unnecessary to raise the mill rate which was again set at 22 mills. The new assessment was $7,000 lower than the previous assessment. This was due in the main to the $13,000 tax exemptions on soldiers' property.

The school district sent in a requisition for $50,000. This is $3,000 higher than last year. Again however it was not found necessary to increase the mill rate and the rate was struck at 26 mills.

The court of revision will be held on Friday evening in the council chamber, July 23.

A 10% discount will be given on all current taxes paid on or before Wednesday, September 1.

Town Foreman Malanchuk presented council with a draft of a proposed town garage. The building would cost in the neighborhood of $2500 and would be built on the town lot immediately west of the bank. Study will be given the garage by the Works and Property committee.

Girl Guide Badge Presentation

Monday, June 14, brought the close of the Girl Guide parades for the 1942-43 term. The evening was, as usual at the year-end, a special one. The meeting was open to the friends and parents, as we try to make a real event of our badge night. This year we were especially pleased at the number of interested people who attended the ceremony.

A program was presented by the girls, which included numbers by the company as a whole, and individual selections. One of the most interesting was a drill exhibition, which showed how much improvement had taken place since last year. Following the exhibition P. L. Louise Aboussafy presented W. Milley Jr. with a small gift of appreciation from the company for the instruction he has given during the spring in the drill.

At the close of the program the company was called into patrol and horseshoe formation. Following the presentation of the colors Gwen Wolff, a recruit, was enrolled and welcomed into the movement.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of the badges, for which the girls had worked during the year. The result was particularly good, with the following badges awarded:

1. Athlete (examiner Mr. R. Spillars) L. Aboussafy, L. Dafoe, I. Ewing, C. Fraser, J. Handzel, B. Hillary.
2. Artist (examiner Mr. S. Ondrus) L. Dafoe, F. Dibblee, B. Hillary.
3. Book Lover (examiner Miss M. E. Dunlop) C. Fraser.
4. Cook (examiner Mrs. A. B. Westworth) L. Dafoe, I. Ewing, J. Handzel.
5. Child nurse (examiner Mrs. S. Murdoch, R.N.) L. Aboussafy, L. Dafoe, I. Ewing, J. Handzel.
6. Entertainer (examiner Mrs. A. F. Short) L. Dafoe, F. Dibblee.
7. Flower Lover (examiner Mrs. F. H. Graham) L. Aboussafy.
8. History Lover (examiner Miss A. Yull) I. Ewing, J. Handzel.
9. Homemaker (certified by parents) L. Aboussafy, F. Dibblee, I. Ewing, J. Handzel, B. Hillary, C. Fraser, S. Hulbert.
10. International Knowledge (examiner Mr. R. Spillars) B. Hillary.
11. Knitters (examiner Mrs. A. Dewar) L. Aboussafy.
12. Landress (examiner Mrs. E. Dibblee) C. Fraser, B. Hillary.
13. Minstrel (examiner Mr. Wm. J. Cousins) B. Hillary, C. Fraser.
14. Music Lover (examiner Mr. Wm. J. Cousins) F. Dibblee, L.

Capacity Audience Greet No. 7 S.F.T.S., Macleod Air Force Show Here Wednesday Evening

Artists Gave a Grand Variety Show; Warmly Applauded by Audience; Many Unable to Gain Admission.

Through the kind permission of Group Captain Hampton, of No. 7 S.F.T.S., Macleod, Coleman Lions' Club and Air Cadets had the pleasure of bringing to Coleman top flight artists from the Macleod air school for a variety show on Wednesday evening and which was thoroughly enjoyed by a capacity audience in the Community hall.

So great was the reputation of the artists that patrons started to come into the hall at 7 p.m. while men were busy arranging the chairs. At 7.30, when the doors were scheduled to open, the hall was practically filled, and ten minutes later, all seats had been sold. Upon the insistence of many for standing room, many more were admitted, but still a number were unable to get in. As the evening was quite mild it was decided to leave the lobby doors open and in this manner let as many as possible see the show.

The variety show provided two hours and twenty minutes of excellent entertainment and started off with several selections from the very fine band. This was followed by individual artists who sang, tap-danced, gave comedy acts, etc., and who never allowed for a dull moment.

The program was as follows:

"O Canada," overture "Azalea" and selection "Boogie Woogie," by the band; opening chorus, entire cast; impersonations and tumbler acts, PO Pilon; taps, Sgt. Howden; calfskin calisthenics, LAC W. MacDonald; "Baby," LAC Grasdall and Cpl Nippleburg; "Mother MacKay," "Merry Widow" and "Army of the Nile," band; Gracie Field by LAW Robertson; "ACE Joe," WOI Johnston; "Danny Boy" and "Rose of Tralee," Cadet Officer Erb; Scotch song and dance, LAW Yull; a Jerome Kern Medley and "Haunted House," band; "Coming in on a Wing" and "Marry," LAW Couper and PO Pilon; monologue, LAC Dibley; comedy songs, WOI Ramsbottom; "Trumpet Choir," FS Lehman; "Dearly Beloved" and "Praise The Lord," PO Pilon; "Day is Done" and "Toys," band; finale, entire cast; "God Save The King."

Following the finale, Flight Lieutenant Harold Houghton, of the local Air Cadets, thanked Group Captain Hampton; Squadron Leader Brisban, master of ceremonies; Mr. Simmons, show director; the band leader and all artists for the very fine and enjoyable show.

Sports Day to be Held July 1

Plans Arranged for a Big Day; Entries for Various Events Asked to Be Listed Early

The Coleman Sports' Association committee supervising the first annual July 1 sports day have now got posters ready publicizing the big event.

It will start with a parade of the school children led by the band from central school grounds to the sports field. A few minutes after arrival foot races and football will get under way and the sports will continue one after another during the afternoon.

There will be foot races for old and young, tug-of-war, softball, horseshoe tournament, etc. The Air Cadets will give a show, as will also the clever high school tumblers.

The youngsters under 16 years will be given refreshments free.

Entries for the softball should be in the hands of Bill Gate not later than two days before the sports day.

Fined $10 And Costs For Non-Removal of Ashes

Second Offence For This Party; Fined $1.00 on First Charge.

On Wednesday morning a citizen away by the town's ashman appeared before Police Magistrate Fred Antrobus. This was his second appearance on the same charge, he having been fined $1 last month because he refused to have his ashes removed.

Before passing sentence, the magistrate gave the accused a severe lecture, and pointed out to him that he openly flouted the authority of the court by not having his ashes removed after having received the court's warning last month. He was also told that the council of the Town of Coleman was determined that all measures possible would be taken to keep this a clean town, and the removal of ashes was one of those measures.

Accused was fined $10 and costs. Failure to pay will see him placed in the local cells, and failure to allow the ashman to remove his ashes will again see him in court next month. In fines and costs accused has already paid an amount equivalent to three years in ash fees.

TO HONOR REV. AND MRS. KIRK AND FAMILY

On Friday evening, June 25, the members and friends of St. Paul's United church will meet at the church to bid farewell to Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Kirk and family. Rev. Kirk will be leaving shortly for his new field at Lamont, Alberta, after having completed three years' ministry with the local congregation.

The program will consist of vocal and instrumental numbers from members of both the junior and senior choirs, and will be under the direction of Mr. James Cousins. Refreshments will be served to all present at the close of the program, which will commence at 7.30 p.m.

All members and friends are cordially invited to attend this farewell gathering in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Kirk.

Greek Fund Meets With Fine Support

Merchants Subscribe $80, With a Few Still to Contribute; Miners and Officials Being Canvassed This Week.

Coleman's Greek Relief campaign is meeting with gratifying results according to the first reports being turned in to Mayor Antrobus on Wednesday.

On Tuesday Canvasser George Ford solicited the business men and clerks, and secured $80, with a few business men still to contribute. Donations ranged from $1 to $10.

McGillivray Creek miners were canvassed the early part of the week, but Mayor Antrobus had received no official returns. International miners were being canvassed this morning. The mine officials were taking care of their own canvass and all returns are expected to be in at the week end or early next week.

The Junior Red Cross are selling tickets on the Greek home raffle. The free tickets in each book are also being sold and the money from those particular tickets is being contributed to the local campaign.

The council will be the final collecting agency. Mayor Antrobus has the custody of all money collected to date.

A paper mesh bag that will hold 300 pounds has been developed to replace burlap in transporting wool.

Education In Canada

THE RECENT MEETINGS of the Canada-Newfoundland Education Association, held in Winnipeg, have brought before the public some of the problems connected with education in Canada at this time. Dr. W. P. Percival, of Quebec, was the chairman of a committee which made the first Dominion-wide survey ever conducted to study the vital educational needs of Canada, and he presented the results of this survey during the conference. The main points included in the report were the recommendations that the capital expenses for schools be paid out of special funds and the cost of education be doubled; that all children be educated until their sixteenth year and that they should attend school during part of their seventeenth and eighteenth year; and finally, that the basic salary for teachers in Canada should be $1,321 a year, which is the present minimum in British Columbia.

Citizenship To Be Emphasized

The report also carried recommendations that in the future emphasis should be placed on principles of morality, and that the importance of worthy citizenship should be impressed in the schools. It also stressed the need for the training of pupils in useful crafts, as well as in academic subjects and the report stated that "the time has come when the call for more practical subjects has reached the irresistible stage." The war has affected education, as it has almost every aspect of our national life, and it has brought into prominence many problems, some of which are being dealt with now, and others which are being studied in connection with the Dominion's plans for reconstruction in the years following the war. As in many other branches of public service, it is apparent that education in Canada could be developed to more fully meet the needs of the present day, and at the Canada-Newfoundland Education Association meetings these matters were studied.

War-time Needs Have Been Met

Educational needs of the country in wartime have been met by special provisions in the schools and universities in Canada. The Youth Training Plan, which has been carried on so effectively in the western provinces, has provided training for large numbers of technicians for the armed forces, munition plants, and other branches of war work. A great many of the Royal Canadian Navy, The Royal Canadian Air Force, and the Army are also receiving technical training in Canadian universities. There are many questions of finance, of the adjustment of salary levels for teachers, of the creation of larger school units, and of a broadening of the curriculum, which should be given consideration now by all thinking people here. Education is a fundamental factor in the shaping of the life of the nation, and as it is improved, many of our present social and economic problems will disappear.

Pilot Able To Help Sick Missionary In Lonely Arctic

Edmonton.—Airline officials disclosed how the faint crackle of a radio distress signal, barely audible through the static of an Arctic summer night, brought help to a stricken missionary in the far north during the latter part of April.

The missionary, Father C. Adam, Oblate order priest with a parish along the lonely Arctic coast east of Coppermine, N.W.T., is now recovering in Fort Resolution hospital after being flown there by a Canadian Pacific Air Lines rescue plane.

Pilot Ernie Boffa and his mechanic, Thornton Tweed of Edmonton, were on a freighting trip at Yellowknife late in April when faint distress signals were received telling of Father Adam's illness at Burnside Harbor, Arctic outpost on Bathurst Inlet, 1,000 miles to the north.

Loading extra gasoline in their eight-passenger Norseman plane, Boffa and Tweed took off and had Father Adam in hospital at Fort Resolution, 150 miles south of Burnside Harbor, the next day.

In Martinique in the past 300 years there have been 33 hurricanes, seven earthquakes, 11 tidal waves, two famines and one drought.

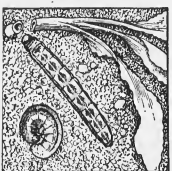

Nixon's Daughter

Assistant Section Officer Kathryn A. Forbes, daughter of Hon. Harry C. Nixon, premier of Ontario, and Mrs. Nixon, was in charge of a recent draft of Royal Canadian Air Force Women's Division personnel, whose arrival in Great Britain has been announced. She is the wife of Capt. R. B. Forbes, 4th Canadian Infantry Brigade, Canadian army overseas, and was formerly junior administration officer at Uplands. She was stationed at air force headquarters for a short time before being posted overseas. A brother, Pilot Officer J. C. Nixon, R.C.A.F., was killed overseas in 1941.

Garden Pests

Department of Agriculture Suggests Ways Of Protecting Gardens And Plants

Cutworms are present in most gardens almost every year. These greyish-brown caterpillars feed at night, cutting off transplants and seedlings at the ground level. They hide in the soil during the day. The Division of Entomology, Dominion Department of Agriculture suggests that in small gardens, plants can be protected by wrapping paper loosely around the stems or by placing tin cans, with top and bottom removed, over the transplants. Be sure that the lower end of either protector is embedded in the soil.

In larger gardens, where the area to be protected is more extensive, poisoned bran bait will have to be used. This bait is composed of five pounds of bran, three ounces of paris green and two quarts of water.

Before transplanting, the bait should be sprinkled lightly over the garden. This should be done in the evening, following a warm day. Two applications are recommended at an interval of three days. As this bait is poisonous it must not be left exposed in containers where it will be available to young children, livestock, or birds.

VERY EXPRESSIVE

Much that we admire in the English is symbolized by the way Winston Churchill pronounces the word "Nazi." In contrast to the careful, cultured, and somewhat respectful "Notzy" of the radio announcers, his "Naazzy" is a simple snarl of derision, implying that it's impossible for a plain man to get the hang of any such foreign word and in this instance, certainly not worth the trouble.—The New Yorker.

A gentleman from Utah once lured Mark Twain into an argument concerning polygamy, babbling the humorist with long and tedious exposition in favor of plural marriages. Mark strove valiantly to beat down the claims of his adversary, but with little success. Finally the man challenged Twain to cite some passage of Scripture expressly forbidding polygamy.

"Certainly," replied the humorist. "No man can serve two masters."

"Walter, it's almost an hour since I ordered that turtle soup."

"Sorry, sir, but you know how slow turtles are."

Mistress—Mary, how is it the eggs are sometimes boiled soft and sometimes quite hard?
Mary—Well, mum, I'm sure I don't know. I puts them in regular as the clock strikes eight, and I takes them out without fail when I hear the down train go by.

Him: "Well, I suppose you're plenty angry because I came home with this black eye last night."

Her (sweetly): "Not at all, dear. You may not remember it, but when you came home you didn't have that black eye."

The head of the house was reading a newspaper article very carefully. Presently he remarked to his wife: "Do you know, dear, I think there is something in what this article says—that the cleverness of the father often proves a stumbling block to the son."

His wife heaved a sigh of relief. "Well, thank goodness," she said. "Our Bobby won't have anything to fall over."

The Art Of Forgetting

Try And Remember Only The Good Points Of Your Friends

If you would increase your happiness and prolong your life, forget your neighbor's faults, forget the slanders you have heard, forget the temptations, forget the fault-finding, and give little thought to the cause that provoked it, and forget the peculiarities of your friends, and only remember the good points that make you fond of them; forget all personal quarrels and histories, which you may have heard by accident, and which if repeated, would seem a thousand times worse than they are; blot out as far as possible all the disagreeables of life. They will come and will grow larger as you remember them, and constant thought of acts of meanness or worse still, will only tend to make us more familiar with them. Obliterate everything disagreeable from yesterday. Begin with a clean slate for today, and write upon it, for sweet memory's sake, only those things that are lovely and lovable.—Exchange.

AIR MARSHAL SAYS CONVOYS IN ATLANTIC STILL FACE DANGER FROM ATTACK BY SUBMARINES

Ottawa.—Air Marshal Sir John Slessor, air officer commanding-in-chief of the R.A.F. coastal command, said that while Germany received "a serious setback" in her U-boat warfare last month, new techniques are to be expected and the danger to Atlantic convoys is not yet ended.

Sir John, who dropped into Ottawa from Iceland, discussed the battle of the Atlantic at a press conference.

With him was his counterpart on the western coast of the north Atlantic—Air Vice-Marshal G. O. Johnson, air officer commanding-in-chief of the R.C.A.F. eastern air command—and Air Vice-Marshal L. D. McKean.

Sir John told reporters he had been on a visit to Iceland where a number of the Canadians in his command are located. He came on to Ottawa to discuss mutual problems with the R.C.A.F. and later will go to Washington for brief discussions.

"It is too early to think about the U-boat war being over, but we are gradually forcing them to find new hunting grounds," he said.

"One of the best hunting grounds is in the Bay of Biscay. They must pass through the bay to or from the Atlantic and they can't make the entire trip without surfacing, so that is one place we know we can always find them," he added.

In addition to the four Canadian squadrons in his command there are a large number of Canadians serving with R.A.F. squadrons. Two of the Canadian squadrons are engaged in hunting U-boats, one is a torpedo squadron and the other a Beaufighter squadron.

Ottawa Commando Captain Gets The Allan Cup

Corp. Neil Colville of the Canadian Army, former front line hockey star of New York Rangers and captain of the Ottawa Commandos last season accepts the Allan Cup, emblematic of the Amateur Hockey championship of Canada, on behalf of the army hockey squad. Method Used For Taxing Overtime May Be Changed

Ottawa.—Revenue Minister Gibson told the House of Commons that while there is no possibility of a man earning less by working more under present tax laws, the department of national revenue is making studies with a view to finding more satisfactory ways of taxing overtime earnings.

Both Mr. Gibson and Munitions Minister Howe denied statements by C. E. Johnston (N.D., Bow River), that absenteeism was caused by the tax laws taking away all or more than the extra money earned by working longer hours. "There is no combination of circumstances under the present tax laws which penalizes a man for working more," said Mr. Howe, "it's impossible for a man to work more and earn less. A man earns more if he works more."

He said Mr. Johnston did not understand the tax laws and asked him not to make statements "misleading and dangerously misleading" to workmen without looking into the law carefully. "There are enough destructive stories abroad now without having them spread from this House of Commons," said Mr. Howe.

Mr. Johnston said if a woman earned $660 a year she paid no tax. If she earned $661 she paid a tax which reduced her income below $660. Mr. Gibson said this was not so. No tax reduced an income below the exemption level.

Clarence Gillis (C.C.F., Cape Breton South) said where income tax was deducted at the source on weekly earnings on the basis of overtime pay the actual deductions sometimes resulted in a man receiving less than he would if no overtime were worked. "At the end of the year you can get a refund if you can get hold of one of those forms and get a couple of lawyers to fill it out for you," he said.

The system militated against the whole basis of seeking increased war production on an overtime basis. The people did not understand the rebates available at the end of the year and in any case it was hard to get rebates. It might take a year or two before they could be obtained.

Mr. Gibson said overtime might raise a man into a higher bracket than the one in which he would eventually have to pay. That was causing the department some concern and was being studied to see if some other methods of taxing overtime could be found, which would equalize the tax and not cause dissatisfaction.

Mr. Howe said in connection with coal production, that he thought workers were discouraged from overtime work which was essential to increased production as there was little prospect of getting enough additional men into the mines, either from the army or elsewhere, to raise the output.

DEHYDRATED VEGETABLES

Ottawa.—Britain has asked Canada to provide 5,000 tons of dehydrated vegetables from the 1943 crop. Dean A. M. Shaw, chairman of the agricultural committee said. Since dehydration reduces the weight to one-seventh it will require 35,000 tons of vegetables to supply the need, he said.

DESERVED WELCOME

New York Paper Has High Praise For King George

New York.—The New York Times, commenting editorially upon King George's visit to North Africa, said he "deserves all the warmth of welcome that he received in North Africa."

Remarking that there are "few harder worked persons than members of the British royal family," the newspaper referred to the King as "equal to the arduous duties of his place, brave, clear-headed, unpretentious."

MEETING IN JULY

London.—Hugh Dalton, president of the board of trade, said a conference of Allied powers probably will be held next month in Washington for perfecting an international organization for handling post-war relief in Europe.

Canadian Escort Group Scores Remarkable Success Against U-Boats

London.—The outstanding fighting record of a Canadian escort group is expected to be cited shortly in an official statement describing encouraging events in the battle of the Atlantic.

Last month, it is understood, Allied U-boat hunters sank more submarines than the Germans could build and that fact is being hailed as one of the most important victories of the war.

One Canadian escort group in particular, it is understood is to be given a prominent place in the official account of successes against submarines.

Guerillas In Greece Refuse To Cease Their Activities

Ankara.—A German-Italian drive against Greek guerrillas, with tanks, planes and artillery in support, has failed to smoke out the Greeks from their mountain strongholds, information from Greek sources said.

According to these sources, Germans issued an ultimatum late in May directing the guerrillas to cease their activities before June 4 under the threat of powerful repressive action.

The guerrillas were said to have ignored the ultimatum and a strong force was reported sent against them. Only a few of the irregulars were captured, the Greek informants said.

Defence Minister Gets Belgian Award

With His Excellency the Governor-General looking on, Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of national defence for Canada, (left), receives the Croix Militaire Belge (Military Service Cross, 1st Class) from Hon. Camille Gutt, minister of finance in the Belgian government in London, at a ceremony in Ottawa. The award was made in recognition of the Canadian defence minister's services in training Belgian recruits in Canada.

New Terminal For Montreal

Hon. J. E. Michaud, Minister of Transport, will officially open the new Canadian National station at Montreal on July 14. The next day, Canada's newest terminal will begin business. An expansion and modernization of the railway's facilities in the metropolis, it has brought about the elimination of grade crossings, the extension of yards, the co-ordination of a vast network of tracks to provide for faster handling of freight, an imperative need in time of war. The station building itself is modern in design and includes such up-to-date features as a nursery for travellers' children. All train operations over the approaches and within the station area will be by electric locomotion. The photograph, showing the Dorchester street elevation, looks towards the Royal Bank and other buildings on Montreal's St. James street.

CHANGES MAY BE MADE TO LIFT OR MODIFY RESTRICTIONS ON CANADA'S WHEAT ACREAGE

Ottawa.—Signs that wartime production policies are rapidly moving into new phases in which Canada's restriction of wheat acreage will be lifted or greatly modified are seen in Ottawa. At the same time best informed sources indicate that nothing that Canada has gained in the line of livestock and dairy production during the war will be endangered in the changing situation and in postwar period.

An erroneous impression has resulted from the recent United Nations food conference at Hot Springs, Va. The Regina Leader-Post is informed authoritatively. An interpretation that Canadian food production should rapidly change back to grain production from livestock and dairy products, in which great wartime expansion has occurred, is not warranted by a reading of the final act of the food conference.

The Hot Springs conference, an official source said, was a post-war conference, having nothing to do with either food relief in wartime or exceptional civilian and military food demands. A conference on wartime food relief is expected to be called shortly by President Roosevelt, and its findings may vitally affect Canada's immediate food production plans.

The argument on what types of food should be produced lies between staple field crops and perishable vitamin foods. The great change in Canada in this war has been a shift from staple cereals to vitamin foods grown on the hoof. Nothing in section 12 of the food conference's final act, which Prime Minister King tabled here recently, is taken officially as indicating any immediate changes in Canadian production, such as a switch back to cereal grains.

Two further important factors are seen in the wheat situation. Since the U.S. lifted its wheat restriction last February, by allowing wheat farmers to qualify for loans and payments even if they exceed their A.A.A. allotments, U.S. has begun to increase its wheat production. Probable 1943 wheat acreage of 55,000,000 may rise to 66,000,000 in 1944.

The paradox of U.S. policy from the Canadian viewpoint is that the U.S. is expanding wheat acreage on a scale that will in one year wipe out the restriction which Canada has achieved laboriously in three years. The reason is that U.S. is feeding large volume of wheat to livestock, that its population is consuming the highest food standard of history, and that millions of bushels of low grade wheat are going into alcohol. But the fact remains that Canada is handling a surplus of around 650,000,000 bushels right next door, and the Americans have still got a 42 cents tariff barrier while they are trying to grow more wheat.

The other factor is the prior commitment of Canada, U.S. Argentina and Australia, to maintain orderly control of wheat production in post-war years, under last year's international wheat agreement. The U.S. wheat acreage increase is justified under the wheat agreement, it is thought, because it is based on domestic needs. No equivalent reason exists for Canadians to increase acreage, but a steady demand for Canadian wheat is foreseen on an export basis. No one has yet marked out the limits between the wheat agreement and the new Food Conference Act, though obviously there are areas of disagreement.

FOUR-ENGINED TRANSPORT PLANE NOW BEING DESIGNED IS AN ALL-CANADIAN MACHINE

Ottawa.—Munitions Minister Howe told the House of Commons that the work of designing a four-engine plane for future Canadian transport work has started but that production is at least two years away. Mr. Howe made this statement after he referred to a new cargo-carrying plane of "trans-oceanic type" which was being made now and would soon be coming out of a Canadian factory.

His parliamentary assistant, Lionel Chevrier (Lib., Stormont), declined to comment on the minister's statement but elsewhere it was learned that this cargo-carrying plane is a version of the Lancaster, now being made at Malton, Ont. the first to be test-flown soon. A reliable informant told The Canadian Press that it is the intention to turn out some Lancasters with commercial fuselages—instead of bomber fuselages.

Mr. Howe said outside the house, that the Malton, Ont., Lancaster plant would supply the planes for Canada's new trans-Atlantic air service, scheduled to start early in July. Presumably it will be the commercial version of the Lancaster that will ultimately be used.

After referring to the plane of "trans-oceanic type" now being built, Mr. Howe said:

"But we are doing something that has never been done before. We are designing a plane which will be all-Canadian and which we think will be the plane of the future."

The minister was answering ques-

100,000 bushels right next door, and the Americans have still got a 42 cents tariff barrier while they are trying to grow more wheat.

The other factor is the prior commitment of Canada, U.S. Argentina and Australia, to maintain orderly control of wheat production in post-war years, under last year's international wheat agreement. The U.S. wheat acreage increase is justified under the wheat agreement, it is thought, because it is based on domestic needs. tions about aircraft production from J. G. Diefenbaker (Prog. Con., Lake Centre), who questioned why Canada was not expanding aircraft production and getting into production of cargo-carrying planes.

Mr. Howe said Canada is making cargo planes, the Nordyn Norseman, as rapidly as they can be turned out and went on to tell of the new plane soon coming out of trans-oceanic type and the other in the design stage.

Mr. Diefenbaker said 25 per cent. of the United States war program was aircraft production and wanted to know why Canada was not doing more in that line and why engine production had not started. Mr. Howe said Canada is spending proportionately as much as the United States on aircraft production, 25 per cent. of the whole war program, $1,000,000,000 out of a total program of $3,500,000,000. The same proportion held good for the past two years.

"We are increasing the production of aeroplanes and working very hard at it. We still have to find quite a few thousand men to bring our production up to our present objective," said Mr. Howe. He said any man with any skill would be hired if he presented himself at an aircraft plant.

Over the whole field of war production output, in the United Kingdom, in 1942 was 50% above that of 1941.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Ashes And Their Removal

Seldom has council taken such a strong stand in any matter as it has taken in the compulsory removal of ashes within the town. Again this week a citizen was brought into court for refusing to have his ashes removed and again he was fined, this time more severely than the first. The large majority of citizens will be strongly behind the council's action. There is no more unsightly mess in and around a town than piles of ashes. By all means let's have the council strictly enforce the garbage by-law regardless of whose toes may be trampled.

The Junior Red Cross

At Cameron school Coleman has a youthful organization of which it is mighty proud. It is the Junior Red Cross under the supervision of Miss A. Yuill. We had the very good fortune to be a pupil of Miss Yuill's a number of years ago and from personal experience know that these children do not consider their activities work but an enjoyable pastime. A patriotic pastime that has brought forth aid and happiness to hundreds in past years. At the present time they are directing their energies towards aiding the Greek War Relief Fund, a war charity that is receiving the support of citizens from coast to coast. On Saturday two members of the Junior Red Cross sold $66 in tickets on a Greek raffle, a magnificent effort. In addition they collect magazines, send parcels to all former Cameron school students in the armed forces, aid the senior Red Cross occasion, ally, have adopted several British orphans at a British child's home, collect salvage, aid crippled friends, donate to the Queen's Fund, help purchase musical instruments for Canadian and British prisoners-of-war, aid local needy, send flowers to the local hospital and a host of other work. The youngsters are a credit to the town and the training received under Miss Yuill will train them to be useful citizens of the future.

The Irish Elections

This week an election took place in Eire. It is of interest to Canadians only in the light that a small neutral country is able to have free elections at the present time.

Eire is a problem child to the Democratic nations. Her leaders refuse to co-operate with Britain, even in her hour of peril in 1941. The De Valera government steadfastly refuse bases in Eire from which the British navy could better attack submarines. Her bitterness against Britain has blinded her to her duties toward free nations, she can see none but herself despite the plain truth that had it not been Britain's strength in holding back the Nazi hordes Eire do-day would be dominated by Germany and free elections would have been a thing of the past. Her leaders even protested against American bases in northern Ireland.

The Irishman who has migrated from his homeland has been found to be intelligent, witty and a valued citizen of his adopted country. Many Irish youths in Eire have enlisted in the British armed forces and become heroes. Despite this Eire continues its blind, selfish course knowing full well it is dependent upon the Democracies to buy its exports and guard its freedom.

21 Years Residence Here

The Journal is in receipt of an obituary notice published in a Vancouver paper of the death of an old time resident here, Mrs. George Lewis. It reads:

On May 17, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. Farano, Mary Ann, loving wife of George Lewis, 4417, Pine Street, Burnaby, in her 79th year. Formerly of Coleman, Alberta. Also survived by two sons, William, North Vancouver; Baden Powell, Overseas; nine daughters, Mrs. H. Hedstrom, Burnaby; Mrs. W. H. King, Vancouver; Mrs. C. R. Nichols, Seattle, Washington; Miss Doris Lewis, Alberta; also five daughters in South Wales; 40 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren. Funeral service Thursday, May 20, at 2 p.m. from Central Park Funeral Home, Interment, Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Rev. H. Harber officiating.

Deceased and husband and several members of the family are said to have come to Coleman in 1921 from the States and had resided here till a year ago when with her husband, son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Farano, had motored to the coast where they had taken up residence at Vancouver.

"We welcome you at these services."

The church congregation enjoyed the lovely bouquet of flowers for the Father's service Sunday, which was provided by Mrs. N. Laithwaite and her boys in memory of her husband.

Satisfactory arrangements have been made whereby the local United church minister, Rev. J. E. Kirk, will supply the local United church work during the month of July. During July and August there will be one service each at Blairmore and Coleman. For the month of July, services will be held at St. Paul's United church, Coleman, at 11 a.m. each Sunday, with services at the United church, Blairmore, at 7:30 p.m. each Sunday. During the month of August, Rev. E. B. Arrol, of Blairmore, will be in charge of the services at both Blairmore and Coleman.

BAPTISM

On Sunday morning at St. Paul's United church an interesting service was observed when the children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Vincent, of West Coleman, received the Sacrament of Baptism and were given the names Edward Frank and Gail Julia, respectively.

POST OFFICE EQUIPPED WITH NEW CANCELLING MACHINE

Postmaster Frank Graham, in an effort to maintain efficiency and speed against the ever increasing volume of business at the local post office, last week installed an electric cancelling machine.

The machine, costing several hundred dollars, is modern in every respect. It is of metal construction and can handle envelopes of any size with amazing speed. Attached is a numbering machine that tells at a glance the number of envelopes cancelled, and during the Christmas rush the machine will be worth its weight in gold to the post-office staff.

WEDDINGS

WILLIAMS—HUGHSON
Saturday evening, June 19, a local wedding was solemnized, when Anna Hughson and Lloyd George Williams, both of Blairmore, were united in marriage at St. Paul's United church manse. Mrs. Rose Willetts and Mrs. C. Kirk witnessed the ceremony. The happy couple will reside at Blairmore, and receive the best wishes of their many friends.

How many closets are there, dear?
Husband: I counted five.
Wife: That isn't enough. You'll want one for your things.

A Jap spy was sent to the United States to investigate internal conditions and report particularly on national morale. He reported right back:

"Conditions in the United States are very bad. People are apparently about to starve, for every time two people meet one says to the other 'What's cooking?'"

Quick Publicity

"How in the world did you get rid of all those hammocks with the fancy frill edges we found in Grandpa's storeroom?" asked the first partner.

"Well," I told my wife, in confidence, that hammocks were going to be rationed, and next day she attended her bridge club."

New C.P.R. Engines Keep Canada's War Goods Rolling

The first of 20 powerful new freight locomotives of the Mikado 2-8-2 class being added by the Canadian Pacific Railway this year, Engine No. 5417 was delivered on March 31 and put into immediate service in the all-important job of keeping Canada's war materials rolling on schedule. Completion of the contract held by Canadian Locomotive Company in Kingston, Ont., will bring to 84 the number of new locomotives added by the Canadian Pacific since the outbreak of the war, with all of them sorely needed to meet business demands which in 1945 showed a 49.8 percent increase over 1939.

Their construction marking the use for the first time of considerable Canadian-made boiler shell plate, so far as is known, the new Mikado-type locomotives also have in their makeup Canadian-made tender tank plate in quantity for the first time. Before the war these materials came from the United States and from England but the substitutes were necessary to avoid delay in delivery of the locomotives which were ordered in January of 1942.

The first new Mikado-type locomotive is shown here, with a close-up of two of its 63-inch driving wheels. It will haul up to 5,500 tons or the equivalent of a 100-car train, depending on the grades, and is so counter-balanced it can be used for heavy passenger work when required, such as the hauling of the long troop trains which must go through on time.

"Mary," said the mistress standing in the middle of the study and speaking to the new maid, "surely you don't pretend to have cleaned up this room?" She put her finger on the large globe standing on the desk and added severely, "There's dust here an inch thick."

Mary glanced at her mistress, and replied "It's thicker than that, Madam."

What do you mean?"

"Why," replied Mary, "you've got your finger on the Desert of Sahara."

Arena to be Given Greater Protection Against Vandalism

Arena Now Owned by Town Making Warnings Against Destruction Unnecessary.

At the council meeting on Monday evening the question of the Arena was discussed. Several councillors have been recent visitors in the building and all voiced protest at the appalling damage done to the building and contents by young vandals.

Boards, windows and electric bulbs have been smashed. Heavy curling rocks have been broken and electric wiring ripped out. In addition the light switches have been stolen. The damage will run into the hundreds of dollars, all because young boys, and in the case of light switches, some adults, could not let the property alone.

Council has demanded the prosecution of the guilty parties, and Constable Antle was told to track them down and bring them into court. If the Arena is to be repaired, it is imperative that youths guilty of the Arena destruction be curbed and seemingly the only way to do that is to bring them before the police magistrates.

C.W.A.C. After Recruits; Splendid Opportunity For Young Women

Mrs. R. Parry recently attended a conference at Calgary of all provincial civilian recruiting officers. Addresses were given by Brigadier Harvey, Lieut. Lucille Innes, Capt. Betty Lough and others.

All speakers stressed the point that "as a part of the army, women are helping to win the war; and as a part of the army, more and more women were needed to join the ranks and hasten victory."

In her address, Lieut. Innes stated "this war is pointing more and more to the importance of women in the world today. Who knows where it will lead?—who knows to what heights women of the future may climb?—spurred on by the example of our corps. In the recruiting office there is a letter on file. In its own way it is a gem—it is an indication of some kind or other. The gist of the letter: A man who is unable to join the Army has written in to ask that he be placed in some civilian office job in order that he can release a woman of the corps for active service overseas."

Needed in the C.W.A.C. are clerks, cooks, drivers, messengers, waitresses, postal assistants, etc. Training of four weeks to four months, depending on what branch of the service you enlist in, are given girls at various army schools throughout the Dominion.

Any young women interested in joining the C.W.A.C. are asked to approach Mrs. R. Parry, Coleman's civilian recruiting officer for the C.W.A.C.

$66 in Tickets Sold on Greek Home on Saturday

Objective of $300 Set By Junior Red Cross in Ticket Sales on Greek Home Draw.

Mrs. Fred Antrobus, Miss A. Yuill, and her Junior Red Cross have set themselves an objective of $300 in ticket sales on the Calgary Greek home which will be raffled later this year, proceeds from which will be donated to the Greek War Relief fund.

On Saturday at Antrobus' office two members of the Junior Red Cross sold $66 worth of tickets and to-date $86 in tickets have been sold with a number of books in the hands of sellers. So great is the demand for the tickets that the Junior Red Cross has set a $300 objective which members feel confident in reaching.

Tickets sell at 50 cents each or three for a dollar. In each book there are three free tickets. It has been decided by Mrs. Antrobus and Miss Yuill that these free tickets will also be sold and the receipts turned over to the Junior Red Cross who in turn will donate the money to the Coleman Greek relief campaign which is in progress at the present time.

TWO-THIRDS of the total number of loans outstanding in Canada's Chartered Banks average less than $500 per loan.

Through bank loans, Canada's Chartered Banks help Canadians to benefit themselves, their fellows and their country. Many of these loans are small—but all contribute their share to the day-by-day activities of Canadian enterprise.

Some further facts about Canada's Banks:

Chartered Banks' loans related to agriculture as shown on the last official return to Parliament, totalled $340,118,473. This sum included loans to farmers, ranchers, fruit raisers and to grain dealers and grain exporters.

Every general manager today heading a Chartered Bank entered the bank as a junior in some small branch.

Up to and including February, 1943, no fewer than 6803 men and 154 women bank employees had enlisted in the armed forces.

Canadians in every walk of life and in every part of Canada are served by more than three thousand branches and sub-agencies maintained by the Chartered Banks to facilitate the nation's business.

THE CHARTERED BANKS OF CANADA

The Chinese thought of it first!

THOUSANDS of years ago, the Chinese used a form of gunpowder—a flaming chemical of defence dumped over battlements upon an invading enemy.

And from this age-old beginning has evolved smokeless powder made from high-proof alcohol. Like the airplane, it has done much to further the progress of mankind—but in evil hands it has meant tyranny and enslavement.

As the tempo of this war for liberty increases and our armed forces in all parts of the world swing to the offensive, more smokeless powder for our shells, bombs, depth charges and torpedoes is a vital necessity.

And because we have vast fields of grain and the facilities to convert them into high-proof alcohol, the United Nations shall have an overwhelming superiority of fire-power to pulverize the enemy into unconditional surrender.

Thus, China's primitive powder of defence has finally developed into the weapon to drive tyranny forever from this earth. In a way, it is the hand of ancient China reaching out in defence of free men everywhere.

Alcohol for War is also used in the manufacture of Synthetic Rubber, Drugs and Medicines, Photographic Film, Lacquers and Varnishes, Drawing Inks, Compasses and other Navigation Instruments, Plastics, Shatterproof Glass and many other products. Every Seagram plant in Canada and the United States is engaged 100% in the production of high-proof Alcohol for War.

Catholic Bishops in Holland Openly Defy Nazi Reprisal Threats

In open defiance of Nazi threats of reprisals for any further opposition to the occupation authorities, Holland's Catholic bishops have issued a new pastoral letter condemning the conscription of Dutchmen for forced labor, it was learned.

The letter was read in Catholic churches throughout Holland on May 16. It followed a wave of strikes and violence earlier in the month, in which hundreds of Dutch citizens were executed.

The bishops' letter attacked the Nazi claim of fighting a crusade for the abolition of Bolshevism, terming this "only a catchword."

The statement said those wishing to fight against Bolshevism "must not suppress Christianity with all manner of means, as is done by Nazism."

Used With Success

Sterilized Wrappings From Cigarette Packages Help In Healing Wounds

Transparent cigarette package wrappings sterilized in boiling water have been used with great success in dressing open wounds and ulcers in the hospital at Lagos, Nigeria, according to Dr. M. Ellis of the British Colonial Medical Service.

In an article in the British Medical Journal Dr. Ellis writes that the wrappings have the advantage of being non-irritant and also permit the inspection of wounds without having to uncover them. "We believe," Dr. Ellis says, "that the rate of healing is increased by that type of dressing."

Postal regulations prohibiting the mailing of matches or inflammable liquid for cigarette lighters have been amended to provide for summary conviction with a fine not exceeding $100 and imprisonment not exceeding three months, or both fine and imprisonment.

Woman in West Coast Shipyard Is Expert Rivet Passer

"I became a rivet passer and I love it," said 21-year-old Mrs. Del Elliott of Victoria as she hoisted herself through a narrow pathway in a half-triangular.

Mrs. Elliott, mother of a 13-month-old daughter, wondered what she would do in a shipyard when she traded a nurse's uniform for a greasy pair of overalls. She hadn't long to wonder—soon she was tossing rivets, cold ones at first, over short distances to another girl with a tin funnel-like container.

Before long, however, she was passing the hot rivets short distances, and slowly but surely her accuracy and distance increased until today she can easily toss a red-hot rivet anywhere it is needed.

"One day," she said, "I was working with a riveter who drove 1,200 rivets. I got a great kick out of being able to do my job well enough to help him drive that many rivets in a single day."

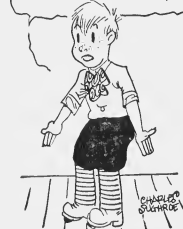

Genius And Talent

Have Been Richly Bestowed On Prime Minister Of Britain

Churchill started painting pictures as a recreation after the last war. In 1920 he exhibited paintings at Paris under the name of Charles Morin, and when his works were reviewed, the experts declared that "this young man has a future." As a matter of fact, his productions generally have been well above the ordinary. And he is a good union bricklayer, too. Genius and talent have been prodigally bestowed on this Englishman, the greatest of this age.—St. Catharines Standard.

TUBERCULOSIS

Twenty cases of active tuberculosis, all adults, and all requiring treatment, were discovered by the survey clinic in Saskatoon, conducted by the Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis League.

Reporting on the survey, Dr. Harvey C. Boughton said there were probably another 30 "real suspects" who were being kept under constant check. There are also a large number of persons who have had tuberculosis, which is now inactive, but who are receiving further observation.

In the mass survey the clinic has fluorographed 29,850 men, women and children, leaving about 10,000 persons unexamined. The survey is being continued.

It is thought Saskatoon has had the most intensive coming-over, because no effort has been spared to clear up the slightest suspicion or trace of tuberculosis," Doctor Boughton said.

Although Saskatchewan has health regulations requiring the periodic medical examination of persons employed in restaurants and cafes, they have not been enforced in the last few years. In the Saskatoon tuberculosis survey two cafe employees were found to have active disease. The clinic is now making a recheck of all food handlers. Certificates will be given to all food places where the employees have all been examined and found free of tuberculosis.

R. G. Ferguson, M.D., O.B.E., medical director of the Anti-Tuberculosis League, reported that the Christmas Seal Fund had paid for the examination of 64,000 Saskatchewan residents in 1942, and that it was intended to examine 100,000 this year. Forty-thousand have already been examined since January 1.

CHAPTER VIII.

ESTEBAN strode from the room and returned a moment later carrying the black whip that was part of his gaucho outfit. The Pancho made a gurgling sound of appreciative understanding, and even Chris Morgan nodded to himself. Already he had seen that bullwhip become a deadly thing in the hand of Esteban Velasquez.

"Esteban!" With a startled cry, Rosita gripped her brother's arm. "You are not—?"

"Yes, my dear," smiled Esteban. "It is either that or remain here until Captain Rojas comes to arrest us."

"But—" She continued to cling to him. "Verde has a gun, and a about will bring Don Felix from the other side—"

He patted her shoulder and disengaged his arm. "Do not be worried, Rosita mia. You have seen me use this whip every night. Surely the skill I have acquired to amuse others will not fail me in our hour of desperation."

Esteban was the first to crawl through the window. Morgan and Pancho helped Rosita to reach the ground. When all four were crowded between the walls of the two buildings, Esteban, the whip wrapped loosely around its own stock, tiptoed down the passage, moving slowly to the sound of the whip. The sound of the whip was followed by an even louder bang. Morgan had aimed at one of the moving wheels, and his bullet had made through the tire like a mallet.

The car whirled in the grip of the unexpected blowout. As Morgan had hoped, there was no room in the narrow alleyway for the driver to maneuver the rocking, twisting vehicle.

The headlights danced crazily from side to side as the driver fought to maintain equilibrium. All at once there came a resounding crash, and the street was plunged once more into darkness.

The car was tilted on two wheels, buried half its length into the hole it had created in the masonry. "Come!" Morgan cried, leaping out of the passage. "Now is our chance to get away!"

But Morgan took only one step in the direction opposite the overturned car. "To Pancho caught his arm. 'Let me lead the way,' Pancho said eagerly. 'No one in Buenos Aires knows the Boca as well as I. Once I get you out of sight, Rojas and Guillermo will never find us.' They left Verde, wrapped securely in the coils of the whip, seated on the ground. The rheumatic legs of To Pancho moved swiftly. He bent low to dart unseen around the tonneau of the police car, then followed the alleyway enough to circle the brick building that towered over his humble cottage. Here, Pancho ducked into another abysmal pocket, squirmed through the fugitives were on a second of the waterfront's dismal thoroughfares. Had Morgan stood still and closed his eyes until the count of 10, he would never have located his companions again, so twisted was the labyrinth through which Pancho was leading them in an effort to throw Rojas and Guillermo off the trail.

simply moved forward and back, like a jolted pendulum.

Because of the distance and the darkness, Morgan was unable to follow the course of the activated bullwhip. But almost before Esteban's jerking hand had stilled, there sounded a sharp report. Verde jumped and the crack of the whip was followed by a shrill scream.

"Dios mio!" Verde sagged, clapping his hands to his face. The gun clattered on the stones and the fat man turned to run brokenly.

Again the whip sang and marled. Esteban braced himself like a cowboy about to throw a roped steer; the tugging body of Verde seemed to halt in midair, then flopped backward heavily to the ground.

Then Morgan and Pancho arrived on the scene of action. To Pounced on the struggling Verde to allow Esteban to slacken the tightened whip. Morgan grabbed up the fallen pistol and faced the corner of the alley. Guillermo must have heard the cries of Verde.

Verde's hands were still clapped against his face as he was hauled to his feet. "Nombre de Dios," he kept mumbling, "you have blinded me—"

"No, señor," said Esteban. "I did not touch your eyes. I merely split your cheek open to the bone."

GINGERLY Verde lowered his hands and blinked at his blood-smeard palms. An expression of relief crossed his face; this evidence that his eyesight was unimpaired. Esteban did not remove the lash from about the prisoner's throat, as he once had done with Morgan; he hoped the coils around Verde, binding the man securely as though he had used a rope.

"Get Guillermo," he urged Morgan and Pancho. "Rosita and I can take care of this fellow. If we can get away in the car with the two of them we can keep them from causing more trouble until we figure out a way of proving their villainies."

To Pancho pounded behind Morgan, gripping the remnants of his broken knife. The two were half-way up the alley when a beam of light, flashing through the street ahead, dipped in and out of the alley. Morgan slid to a halt in time to avoid being revealed in the brief glare. At the same time he caught the sound of motors and grinding brakes. Capt. Rojas had arrived.

Pancho gripped the American's sleeve. "Come back, señor," he advised. "We are too late."

They heard the front door being kicked open; a car door slammed, followed by the grinding of brakes. Morgan whirled, breaking into a run to get out of the alley before the car headlights swept through it again. He and Pancho rounded the corner at full speed.

"Get out of sight," Morgan cried to Rosita and Esteban. "They are driving into these alleys to hunt us!" They did not have time to run the length of the valley short as it was. The searching car, Morgan could tell by the sounds, was already at the corner before he had taken a dozen strides.

Beside Morgan was the dark passageway between the houses, the cul-de-sac into which they had crawled through Pancho's window. It was a pocket in which they would be trapped if seen, but they had no choice. If they remained in the open, an instant longer they would be caught by the lights of the police car. Morgan opened the door to the dark aperture, the others crowding in after him.

The headlights swept over the cobblestones, almost catching the leg of Pancho. Rosita flattened herself against one of the walls, as did Esteban and Pancho. But Morgan remained at the mouth of the passage, lifting the gun he still held in his right hand.

"Q. SENOR!" Esteban whispered hoarsely. "Not that! If we shoot the police, that will make us criminals indeed!"

"I shall kill no one," Morgan reassured grimly, "unless Guillermo is in that car directing the search. Keep Verde quiet. We may be able to get out of this yet."

The car, loaded with men, flashed past the hiding-place. Morgan's left arm stretched and he pulled the trigger. The sound of the shot was followed by an even louder bang. Morgan had aimed at one of the moving wheels, and his bullet had made through the tire like a mallet.

The car whirled in the grip of the unexpected blowout. As Morgan had hoped, there was no room in the narrow alleyway for the driver to maneuver the rocking, twisting vehicle.

Looking After Himself

Nazi Commissioner In Holland Is Well Fixed For Food

A Free Dutch paper published in London, which gets its news of events in Holland from underground sources, reports that Seyss-Inquart, the Reich's Commissioner, has appropriated for himself at the Hague a large new house, and that several rooms are stacked with food. The place looks more like a grocery warehouse than a home. He has also taken over a large country estate, and sent to his home in Berlin many famous Dutch paintings and works of art. No doubt similar conditions apply in the homes of all the Nazi leaders in Germany and in other occupied countries.

German looting of Dutch art was confirmed by a dispatch from the Berlin correspondent of the Hague newspaper, Het Vaderland, reporting that a hundred and fifty pictures by Dutch and Flemish masters were auctioned in the German capital during the month of February. Most of the paintings came from private collections and were bought for "private collections."

According to the free Dutch weekly Vrij Nederland, private collections were "purchased" and paid for in marks through the Netherlands Bank. Thus the Netherlands State actually paid for them from funds assessed by the Germans for various costs of occupation, or taken as forced loans. Museums, however, have been compelled to "lend" many valuable paintings as decorations for the offices of various German officials.

Food has been a major subject with the Germans since the war started, and the well-fed Goering has publicly stated that whoever starves in Europe they will not be the Germans. Looting of art treasures is a carry-over from the last war. As on that occasion the Germans will be forced to give back the stolen property when peace comes—St. Thomas-Journal.

Mussolini used to call the Mediterranean "our sea." Now the British have it. It does well likely say it is all right—because he wasn't using it, anyway.

Navy Divers Valuable

Have Furnished United Nations With Information About Enemy Sub

Important to the war but virtually unused are the navy divers, men who proved their value during the African campaign.

They are responsible for getting many of the secrets which the United Nations have learned about enemy submarines.

Just as soon as a signal, "enemy submarine sunk, latitude 111, longitude . . ." is received, a naval tender steams to the position. A helmeted diver goes over the side.

Later, sometimes as much as two hours, he returns to the surface with such things as the U-boat's log and secret documents which occasionally reveal valuable information. Possession of a new code book, for instance, can mean a chance to intercept enemy orders.

This latter fact underlines the reasons for the navy's reluctance to publicize any submarine "kill" until some time after the event.

During the African campaign several cargo ships and transports were sunk. British and American navy divers were rushed into action, some of them being down from the United States. They worked day and night recovering drums of fuel, sealed containers of food and tanks and guns. In one case almost an entire cargo of manganese was retrieved.

Has Luxurious Home

Norwegian Fascist Leader Employs Retinue Of Servants In Mansion

A palatial home, unparalleled in Norway for its luxuriousness, has been built outside Oslo by Vidkun Quisling, notorious Norwegian Fascist leader. He took over a fine old mansion, extended and renovated it, and at heavy cost installed bathing and tea pavilions and bomb-proof underground suite rooms with ceilings of concrete 12 feet thick and further layers of sand.

Quisling now has a retinue of 50 servants, 40 of whom are personal bodyguards armed with rifles and revolvers. Norwegians escaping to Britain say that trouble among members of the Quisling party spreads awe and attacks on Quisling followers are of daily occurrence.

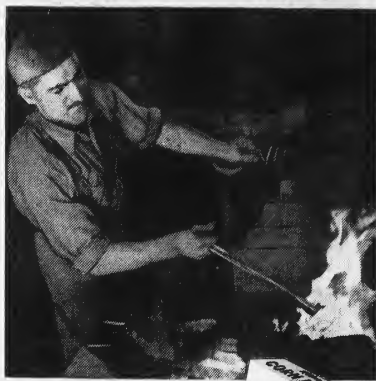

HARD TO REGULATE

One fault about food rationing as we see it, says the Ottawa Citizen, is that the thing isn't based on "selective sacrifice." The thin man, who needs all the fat producing provender he can put away, is on all fours with the stout fellow, who can get all the carbohydrates he requires on a diet of spinach and tap-water.

Repatriated Prisoners Reaching England Say Italians Treated Them Well

The joy of the men who have come home from Italian prisons has been pathetic side, little as they desire pity. One correspondent writes that the grim faces seen at the quayside tempted some to think they were not welcome; and they laughed aloud on discovering that the expression came of sadness for their impaired bodies. They themselves had forgotten disabilities in the gladness of being once more in England.

There is a touch of comedy in their disgust with the war-time macaroni of which they have had more than enough.

But the repatriated prisoners acknowledged that the Italians did the best they could for them. They are deeply appreciative of the goodness of the sisters of mercy in the camp hospitals. Their guards "one and all agreed that they had no desire to fight the British and hoped sincerely it would soon be over," while of German allies these guards "spoke no kind words"—London Times.

Superstitious Japs

American Airmen Gave Them Omen Of Bad Luck

American forces on Attu plagued the Japanese with their most dreaded omen of bad luck.

American propagandists discovered that in Japan there is nothing more feared than the premature falling of the leaves of the kirt tree. All kinds of misfortune are supposed to befall any village where this occurs.

So propagandists arranged for many kirt leaves to fall on Attu.

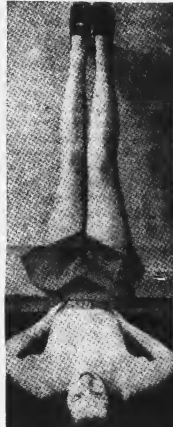

The story came to light after Arthur W. Schuett, naval aviation machinist's mate back from the Aleutians, told in St. Louis how American fliers had dropped "maple leaves" on Attu.

The office of war information explained that it was not the maple leaf at all, but the kirt leaf.

The submarine torpedo was invented in 1776.

Dear Sir: I received your sigs. and they are sure appreciated. There are lots of cigs. to buy over here but they are a big price, 2/4 for 20, so you have an idea that we cannot buy them at that price. Say hello to all the boys for me and hoping we will all be home before long. They are sure bombing h... out of them these days. L. Brown.

Thanks for the cigs, they are really appreciated. J. Hogan.

Dear Sirs: Many thanks for the fags received today and my hearty thanks to all who make these gifts possible. L. A. Caroe.

Dear Sirs: Just received your last parcel of cigs, and once again I thank you and the people of Coleman who contribute to the cigarette fund. I am in the best of health, doing fine and have just returned from a nice leave. Bill Naylor.

Thank you very much for the cigarettes. They are coming regularly and are very much appreciated as can be imagined. I hope everything is O.K. at home and that we will be back there in the very near future. Alfred Jones.

Dear Sirs: Many thanks for the cigs. They are very much appreciated. Hope all my friends in the Pass are fine as I am at present. The weather is grand now. Good weather for further blows on the enemy. Archie Wragg.

Dear Fellas: I am sorry I did not get this card away sooner but better late than never. I am not having much luck with cigarettes lately and have lost quite a number of them. Here's hoping for better luck in the future. Thanks very much. George Burt-nik.

Dear Friends: I received the first parcel of cigarettes today. I wish to say thanks a million. I met a lot of the Coleman boys over here and it is sure good to see them again. Till we meet again the best of luck to you all. John Kanik.

Dear Sirs: I want to thank you very much for your gifts of cigarettes which I have been receiving quite regularly. I try to acknowledge them all but a person does forget. So just in case I did miss, I say thanks a million. Sgt. Celli.

Dear Sir: Received your parcel of cigarettes this afternoon. Many thanks, I now look forward to your gift of cigarettes and as a rule they arrive in the nick of time as I am almost run out. LjC Panek.

Soldiers' Letters

The Journal:

Just a few lines again to let you know I am happy again. Why? The other night I found out where Jasper Jones, the Hirst Brothers and Tommy Sudworth were and I found out we were stationed about six miles apart and were using the same town for a hang-out for the past three months and still were not lucky enough to meet each other, I must say it is a "real" feeling to meet up with the boys from home. I know where George Booth is to and am going to look him up in a couple of days.

I am riding a motor-cycle and get around quite a lot as a despatch rider and stand an excellent chance of meeting the boys. I've been to hundreds of units and am always on the look-out for the boys from home. I go and see Sam Gillies quite regularly and also the Foster brothers as I know where they all are stationed.

I was talking to Roy Foster tonight and he met Bill Ferby in his travels too.

We were all very sorry to hear about Foss Boulton and I was wondering why he did not answer my letter. Well all the boys are "thumbs up" for Foss and hoping he comes through O.K.

Well the Hirsts, Tommy, Jasper and myself wish to say hello to all again and we're still in there punching and we will be until it's over too.

The Journals are coming in well and are keeping me highly posted on the news. I wish to thank the Legion very much and the people who make the cigarette gifts possible for the lovely parcels we receive each month.

Well cheerio for now. L. A. Caroe.
 P.S. A special hello to my "Mom" and "Dad". Lorry.

The cedar chest raffied by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion on Friday evening was won by Mr. Wm. Short.

Mrs. T. McGregor, Mrs. A. Irvine and Mrs. A. Walker, all of Vancouver, attended the Grand Chapter of the Eastern Star held at the Vancouver hotel on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

EVENING GROUP OF RED CROSS CLOSURES FOR SEASON

Friday, June 18, was the last evening that the evening group of the local Red Cross Society will be held for this season. Following is a resume of the work done by this group:

Quilts, pieced and quilted or tied 17; Baby gowns cut and completed 18; Material made into bandages 30 yards; Towels cut and hemmed 12.

The ladies met fifteen nights during the winter, and, although the average number of workers, 7, was not large the amount of work accomplished was very satisfactory.

NATIONAL SELECTIVE SERVICE

Important Notice TO CERTAIN EMPLOYERS AND EMPLOYEES

TO MAKE available for essential employment the services of men in classes already designated as callable for Military Training under National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations, two Orders were issued during May.

It is now illegal for any employer to continue to employ or to engage any man affected by these Orders, except under special permit from National Selective Service. Employees affected must report to the nearest Employment and Selective Service Office, and be available for transfer to more important work.

If you as an employer or as an employee, have not complied with these Orders, do so immediately. Get in touch with the nearest Employment and Selective Service Office either personally or by writing. Further delay will involve penalties. Compliance with the law in wartime is the minimum duty of every citizen.

The age and marital classes of men covered by these Orders are as follows:

- Every man born in any year from 1917 to 1924 (inclusive) who has reached age 19.
- Every man born from 1908 to 1916 (inclusive) who, at July 15th, 1940, was: (i) unmarried; or (ii) divorced or judicially separated; or (iii) a widower without child or children.
- Every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who has, since July 15, 1940, become a widower without child or children now living.
- Every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who, since July 15, 1940, has been divorced or judicially separated.

Men as described above are covered if in any of these employments:

- Any occupation in or associated with retail stores;
 - Taverns or other establishments selling liquor, wine or beer;
 - Barber shops and beauty parlours;
 - Wholesale florists;
 - Gasoline-filling and service stations;
 - Retail sale of motor vehicles and accessories;
 - Any occupation in or directly associated with entertainment including but not restricted to theatres, film agencies, motion picture companies, clubs, bowling alleys, pool rooms;
 - Any occupation in or directly associated with dyeing, cleaning and pressing (not including laundry work); baths; guide service; shoe shining;
 - Any occupation in or directly associated with the manufacturing of feathers, plumes and artificial flowers; chewing gum; wine; lace goods; greeting cards; jewelry;
 - Any occupation in or directly associated with distilling alcohol for beverages;
 - Any occupation in or directly associated with the factory production of statutory and art goods;
 - Any occupation in the operation of ice cream parlours and soda fountains;
 - Any of the following occupations: bus boys; charmen and cleaners; custom furriers; dancing teachers; dish washers; domestic servant; doormen and starters; elevator operator; greens keepers; grounds keepers; hotel bell boys; porters (other than in railway train service); private chauffeurs; taxi driver; waiter.
- If in doubt as to the application of these orders, consult the nearest Employment and Selective Service Office. But once again: if you have not already complied, do so without further delay.
